ASSIGNMENT OF COPYRIGHT

This is an agreement between _____
(the "Author(s)") and the American Genetic Association (the "Association") wherein:

1. The Association agrees to consider for publication in the Journal of Heredity an article entitled _____
(the "Article") authored by the Author(s), and if the Article is accepted by the Association for such publication, the Author(s) hereby assign(s) to the Association his (their) entire right, title and interest therein and including all publication rights and the right to copyright the Article in its own name.

2. Under the rights granted in paragraph (1) hereof, the Association shall have the exclusive right to give permission to others to reprint, publish, or otherwise use the Article.

3. The Association agrees to permit the Author(s) to use the Article for his (their) own future use such as in talks, press releases, reviews, and reprint handouts. The Author(s) shall not permit the Article to be otherwise published without the written permission of the Association.

4. Author(s) warrant(s) that he (they) own the entire right, title and interest in said Article including the publication rights and the copyright therein, and agree(s) to hold the Association harmless against claims of copyright infringement by others as a result of the publication of said Article.
