LICENCE TO PUBLISH

Your paper has been accepted for publication in the above journal, and before proceeding, we need your agreement in writing. Please read this form carefully, sign at the bottom, and return the ORIGINAL to Oxford University Press as quickly as possible.

Journal _____ Manuscript number _____

Article _____

Author(s) _____

I hereby grant to Oxford University Press (OUP) an exclusive licence for the full legal term of copyright period including any extensions and renewals, to publish the Article in all languages throughout the world as follows:

- in the Journal and in any medium, including but not limited to printed form, microform, database, CD-ROM, or other form of electronic publication and/or transmission, now known or hereinafter invented.

The Author also grants to OUP

- the right to grant permission for photocopying or electrocopying versions of the Article published by OUP, and
- the right to give OUP and third parties permission to republish the Article or parts thereof in any medium including without limitation in printed form, microform, database, CD-ROM, and other forms of electronic publications and/or transmission, now known or hereinafter invented. All requests will be subject to the Author's approval (which we will assume is given if we have not heard from you within four weeks of your approval being sought).

As the Author, copyright remains yours, but you authorise us to act on your behalf to defend this copyright if anyone should infringe it. You retain the right to use the article in other publications written or edited by yourself, provided you acknowledge the published original in standard bibliographic citation form, and as long as you do not sell it [or give it away] in ways which would conflict directly with the terms under which you have licensed your copyright to us. Furthermore, unless otherwise expressly indicated in a particular work published in the Journal, photocopying is allowed beyond that permitted by sections 107 and 108 of the US Copyright Law regarding fair use, for course use in any public or private institute of learning provided that: a) copies are distributed at or below cost, including reasonable commercial cost of assembling and duplicating; b) the author and the Journal are identified on the copies, and c) proper notice of copyright is affixed to each copy.

Notes (please read):

1. No article will be published unless a licence form has been signed.
2. Before signing this form please ensure that you have obtained all the permissions required for material you have used from other copyrighted publications. The cost of all fees payable for permissions to use such copyrighted material shall, unless otherwise agreed, be borne by the author.
3. Licensing of publication rights to one central organization will ensure the widest possible dissemination of the article. It will allow requests by third parties to be handled efficiently and consistently. All requests to reprint your contribution, in part or full, will be subject to your approval (which we will assume is given if we have not heard from you within four weeks of your approval being sought).
