American Journal of Clinical Pathology (AJCP)

AJCP is the leading peer-reviewed pathology and laboratory medicine research journal; it is the official journal of the American Society for Clinical Pathology and the Academy of Clinical Laboratory Physicians and Scientists. Its mission is the publication of clinically oriented manuscripts concerning novel laboratory observations on human disease – as well as current concepts and techniques – with particular emphasis on the application of evolving technologies.

Laboratory Medicine

Laboratory Medicine (also known as Lab Medicine) is a research journal for laboratory professionals. This quarterly journal publishes original research articles and reviews in clinical chemistry, microbiology, hematology, immunohematology, molecular pathology, cytology, histology, and laboratory management and administration. Its 45,000 subscribers are largely US-based, while its author contributors are highly international, with many submissions coming from China and the Middle East.

Proceedings of the Aristotelian Society

The Proceedings of the Aristotelian Society contains the papers read at the Society's fortnightly meetings in London throughout the academic year, and short discussion notes on these papers. Papers are drawn from an international base of contributors and discuss issues across a broad range of philosophical traditions, including those which are of greatest current interest.

Aristotelian Society Supplementary Volume

The Aristotelian Society, founded in 1880, meets fortnightly in London to hear and discuss philosophical papers. The Supplementary Volume is published in June each year and contains the Symposia to be read at the Annual Joint Session of the Aristotelian Society and the Mind Association.

Foreign Policy Analysis

Foreign Policy Analysis provides an open forum for research publication that enhances the communication of concepts and ideas across theoretical, methodological, geographical and disciplinary boundaries. By emphasizing accessibility of content for scholars of all perspectives and approaches in the editorial and review process, Foreign Policy Analysis serves as a source for efforts at theoretical and methodological integration.

International Political Sociology

International Political Sociology (IPS) is especially concerned with challenges arising from contemporary transformations of social, political, and global orders given the statist forms of traditional sociologies. IPS is committed to theoretical innovation, new modes of empirical research and the geographical and cultural diversification of research beyond the usual circuits of European and North-American scholarship.

International Studies Perspectives

International Studies Perspectives (ISP) publishes articles that bridge the interests of researchers, teachers, and practitioners working within any and all subfields of international studies. The journal is devoted to five types of contributions: policy research and commentary, pedagogical analyses, new and updated datasets, pieces of interest and special issues and forums.

International Studies Quarterly

International Studies Quarterly is the flagship journal of the International Studies Association. It seeks to publish leading scholarship that engages with significant theoretical, empirical, and normative subjects in international studies. Articles in International Studies Quarterly engage in some meaningful way with political, economic, social, or cultural processes that cross the borders of states.

(20 titles)

International Studies Review

The focus of the International Studies Review is on books and research dealing with international institutions and the foreign policies, international interactions, and international relationships of such political agents as national governments, subnational groups, and international governmental and nongovernmental organizations.

Journal of Global Security Studies

A brand new publication from the International Studies Association, it will launch its first issue with OUP in January 2016. The journal aims to publish first-rate work addressing the variety of methodological, epistemological, theoretical, normative, and empirical concerns reflected in the field of global security studies. More importantly, it encourages dialogue, engagement, and conversation between different parts of the field.

Journal of Neuropathology & Experimental Neurology

This journal publishes original articles on neuropathology and experimental neuroscience, book reviews, letters, and news from the American Association of Neuropathologists. It is written by and for neuropathologists, neurologists, neurosurgeons, pathologists, psychiatrists, and basic neuroscientists from around the world. Publication has been continuous since 1942.

Journal of Consumer Research

Founded in 1974, this journal publishes scholarly research that describes and explains consumer behaviour. Empirical, theoretical, and methodological articles spanning fields such as psychology, marketing, sociology, economics, communications, and anthropology are featured in this interdisciplinary journal.

Journal of Travel Medicine

The Journal of Travel Medicine publishes up-to-date research and original, peer-reviewed articles in the challenging field of travel medicine, including: prevention and treatment of disease; clinic management; patient and staff education; immunizations; impact of travel on host countries; military medicine; problems of refugees; diseases such as malaria, traveller's diarrhea, hepatitis, TB, STDs and AIDS, jet lag, altitude sickness, trauma, special hosts, and more.

Publications of the Astronomical Society of Japan

Publications of the Astronomical Society of Japan (PASJ) publishes the results of original research in all aspects of astronomy, astrophysics, and fields closely related to them.

The Western Historical Quarterly

In the nearly five decades since its launch, The Western Historical Quarterly, official journal of the Western History Association, has presented original articles dealing with the North American West - expansion and colonization, indigenous histories, regional studies (including Western Canada, northern Mexico, Alaska, and Hawaii), and transnational, comparative, and borderland histories.

Arbitration International

Launched in 1985, Arbitration International provides quarterly coverage for national and international developments in the world of arbitration. The journal aims to maintain balance between academic debate and practical contributions to the field, providing both topical material on current developments and analytic scholarship of permanent interest.

The British Yearbook of International Law

The British Yearbook of International Law has become an essential work of reference for academics and practising lawyers. Through a mixture of articles and extended book reviews it continues to provide up-to-date analysis on important developments in modern international law. It has established a reputation as a showcase for the best in international legal scholarship and its articles continue to be cited for many years after publication.

Jerusalem Review of Legal Studies

Jerusalem Review of Legal Studies, published by Oxford University Press in association with the Faculty of Law, Hebrew University of Jerusalem, is a law journal dedicated to in-depth discussions of important studies in law. Each issue consists of several symposia on a book or a research project, which entail critical comments by commentators and a response by the researcher.

Yearbook of European Law

The Yearbook of European Law seeks to promote the dissemination of ideas and provide a forum for legal discourse in the wider area of European law. It is committed to the highest academic standards and to providing informative and critical analysis of topical issues accessible to all those interested in legal studies. It reflects diverse theoretical approaches towards the study of law.

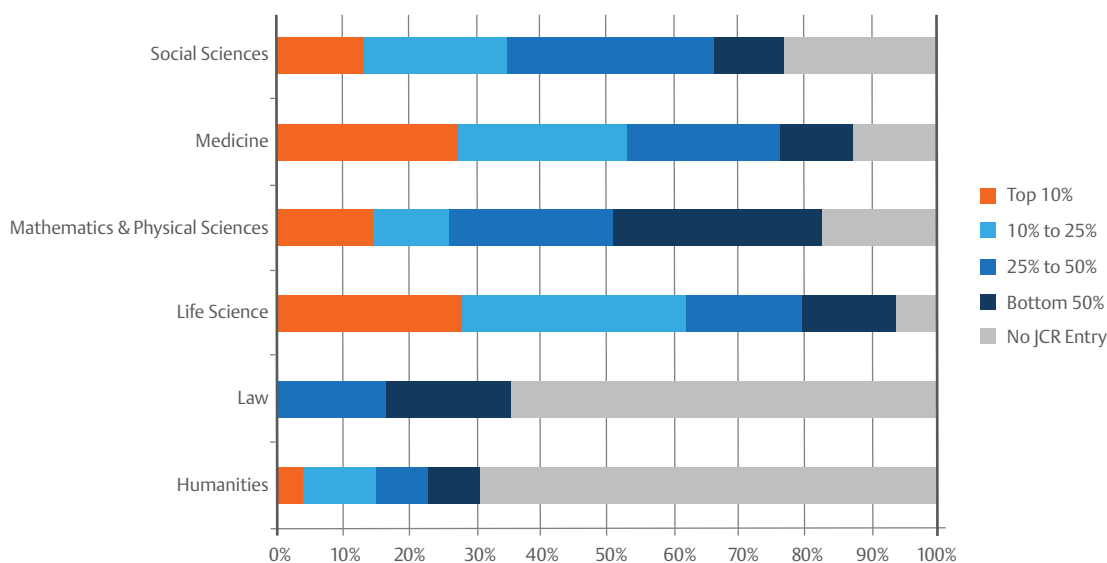

Pain Medicine

Pain Medicine is a multi-disciplinary journal dedicated to the pain clinician, teacher, and researcher. It is the official Journal of the American Academy of Pain Medicine, the Faculty of Pain Medicine of the Australian and New Zealand College of Anaesthetists, and the International Spine Intervention Society. The journal is devoted to the advancement of pain management practice, education, research and policy.

The Humanities Collection

(74 titles)

Oxford University Press has a legacy of being a leading publisher of bibles and dictionaries, so it is little wonder that Oxford Journals has one of the world's best collections of humanities titles. Our Humanities Collection features a wide range of specialized publications in history, philosophy, literature, linguistics, religion, music, and the arts.

Many of our journals are leaders in their fields, and the journal The American Historical Review has now achieved first position in the subject ranking of History. Equally important are our partnerships with many pre-eminent societies, such as the Organization of American Historians, the American Academy of Religion, and the Mind Association, which allow us to publish the latest and most influential research in the humanities.
